I'm trying to define a custom leftmargin using \iftextwidth inside a documentclass to modify the margins from other packages like tcolorbox etc.. Following the user guide I tried the following command: \iftextwidth{3.5in}{\marginparwidth = 3.5in}{} Which is called correctly, but the text doesn't get printed if I use \marginparwidth inside a class or environment like \begin{titlepage} \begin{center} \textbf{Title} \end{center} \addvspace{\iftextwidth{3.5in}{}\tabskip\midindent} \textbf{Author} \end{titlepage} A: \iftextwidth{3.5in}{\marginparwidth = 3.5in}{} is correct. The problem is the documentclass environment does not allow an additional space after \addvspace. Use: \ifnum\dimexpr\parindent>3.5in\relax \setlength{\parindent}{0pt} \fi Instead of the example provided in the question. Survival following unintentional poisoning in Belgium. To assess the toxicological characteristics and survival of unintentional poisoning cases. Data from the toxicological and emergency departments of the University Hospital of Antwerp were collected retrospectively between 1 January 2000 and 31 December 2001. A total of 4126 cases of unintentional poisoning were identified. The overall survival rate was 96.6%, but 15% of the fatalities occurred within 1 h. The median age of the patients was 16 years (range, 1-85 years). The leading substance was ethanol (37.8%), followed by medicines (28.5%). The results showed a female preponderance. Inhalational and digestive toxicities were more common than others. The most common symptoms were shock, respiratory failure, depressed level of consciousness, seizures, and metabolic acidosis. f988f36e3a
